All Modes (APEAL, Practice, Placement) Assignment

This is intended to be a project assignment.

Assignment

You are required to carry out a project entitled:

“Using education for employment. How to make the world want to work with me.”

Under this heading you are required to explore the industry and document the range of occupations in the sector, nationally and internationally. Remember that there is a very wide range of employment generated, some of which only require general IT skills. Comment also on how employment prospects in IT vary from those in other areas; such as general manufacturing, for example.

For one of the categories – that does need proper IT skills – document the qualifications and/or skills needed to gain employment in that area. Document also the likely remuneration for an employee fulfilling that role.

Investigate the employment opportunities in the IT sector generally and in the employment area analysed above in particular. Make an observation on how those employment prospects might change over the next 5 years.

Reflect in your essay the fact that our country is considered to be going through a period of economic crisis and how this is affecting companies individually and generally in the IT sector – referencing both Irish and international companies.

The assignment should show a detailed knowledge of occupations and qualifications and an analysis of career opportunities.
